A Message from your Chairman of the Board Merle Stutzman

Summer has arrived. The sunshine and warm weather always makes building a little easier and seems to put more smiles on people's faces. It's great that our industry is busy again. The challenge of figuring out how to get all the work done is always better than having to worry about not having enough work. Since we are all busy again let's make sure we slow down enough to appreciate the blessings we have. Being a part of a great community (Wayne -Holmes and surrounding area), opportunities to build people's dreams, HBA to support what we do, and of course our families and friends.

Don't miss out on the parade of homes this year. With 11 homes in the parade we should have a very successful parade this year. There are still opportunities to advertise, rent garage space and other ways to a part of it. Please check with Debbie if you are interested in being a part of the parade. Have a great May and continue to being a great amb-sador for the home building industry.

April Business After Hours

A HUGE THANK YOU TO DUTCH COUNTRY STONE & LINCOLN WAY INTERIORS FOR HOSTING THE EVENING!

Diana Frazier & sons Aaron & Sean did a great job talking about their companies & explaining everything they can do!

They supply & install stone & currently have 4 1/2 crews installing every day. They have 1 carpet & flooring installation crew currently but will be adding more in the very near future. They have ALL flooring needs. And are thinking of adding the furniture in the future too!

Tim Bahler won the 50/50—He won $24!!
(we won't mention that he was selling the tickets though)

OHBA Legislative Review

RCAC HEARS FROM MIDWEST ENERGY EFFICIENCY ALLIANCE; TABLES FURTHER REVIEW OF ENERGY CODES

At its March meeting, the RCAC heard from the MEEA representative who worked in collaboration with OHBA on the OHBA Path several years ago. At this meeting, he presented the Committee with results of a compliance 'survey' done in Kentucky and explained how MEEA and the survey team completed the assessment. Kentucky is one of numerous states having received either DOE or utility funding to survey a statewide sampling of new home construction focusing on 8 key components of the energy code.

Over the past few months, the RCAC has been listening to stakeholder input on both the current and future energy codes. As such, numerous builders attended last month's meeting to provide their practical insight on the impacts of more stringent codes.

After hearing from MEEA, the builders and a few others, the Committee voted to explore a compliance survey in Ohio, with the chairman, Ric Johnson, insisting certain parameters be included, if a survey is to be completed. Further, the Committee voted to table any further review of the energy codes until 2017, unless there are survey results to consider prior to that date. Please contact OHBA with any questions.

NAHB Legislative Call for Action

Overtime Rule One Step Closer to Implementation

Filed in Capitol Hill, Codes & Regulations, Labor, Safety & Health on March 16, 2016.

In a move that could have major ramifications for members of the residential construction industry, the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) has sent its final rule changes expanding who is covered by overtime laws to the Office of Management & Budget (OMB).

The rule would impact employees who were previously exempt from the overtime requirements, such as construction supervisors & outside sales staff, among other administrative employees.

The new rule would double the federal overtime salary threshold from $23,660 to $50,440 and, for the first time ever, index the salary threshold annually.

By 2030, employees who make less than approximately $69,720 would be eligible for overtime. This could force many small builders to scale back on pay & benefits, as well as cutting hours to avoid overtime requirements. The issue is a top priority of the administration, & President Obama is racing to release the rule now in a bid to thwart potential congressional efforts to overturn the measure. It is expected that the final rule will be released in April & will likely take effect by August.

NAHB has been working diligently to fight the proposed overtime rule.

NAHB Chairman Ed Brady testified before Congress last fall against the proposal. NAHB is also working with congressional allies & stakeholder groups to see that an appropriations rider to stop the rule is included in this year's budget. While NAHB will fight vigorously, it is important for our members to be prepared.

For more information, email Suzanne Beall at NAHB or call her at 800-368-5242 x8407.
